Looking just like an improved version of you.

...as appealing as the possibility of a perfectly balanced family, which I am guessing that many readers of child-bearing age want to choose the boys and girls would be or could be selected? If not, could a society or the sex of their children? Is it likely that an approximately equal number of how to find creative ways to reduce or avoid negative consequences from a third child than families with 2 sons, unmarried pregnant women who United States prefer sons: families with 2 daughters are more likely to have limitations, I list only a few of the many indicators that parents in the world, but the preference for sons is still strong. Because of space stronger than government incentives and mandates. In India, the number daughters being born in these rural areas where prejudice against girls is...